President's Message

Dear Fellow MOKK Members,

Happy New Year! I hope everyone had a terrific holiday season.

On behalf of MOKK, I would like to thank Todd Hondo for serving as President in 2003. I saw firsthand the hard work and dedication he put forth, not only during the past year as President, but as a board member prior to that. MOKK can look forward to having Todd's continued service for many years to come.

This year will be another very busy one for our organization. Although we will not be having our Maui Okinawan Festival, our calendar will be filled with many other activities. As always, we will need a lot of help with these events so please call the MOKK office at 242-1560 or any of the chairpersons if you are able to volunteer.

Thanks again for your continued support and let's have a great 2004.

Bob Yonahara

Honoring the Past

Over 100 years ago, brave men and women left their village homes in Okinawa to start a new life in Hawaii. Making the long voyage across the Pacific Ocean, they braved treacherous conditions and persevered. Bonds of friendship were formed, forged from kinship and survival.

Early Okinawan immigrants on Maui formed chiho (club of the area) kenjinkai and aza son shihin clubs out of a need to band together to help solve their mutual problems. In the 1920s, attempts were made to organize the Maui Okinawan groups under a single umbrella organization. But the conditions necessary for these clubs to thrive were yet not in place.

In 1945, Maui Uchinanchu collected clothing as part of the postwar relief efforts. Two years later, the Federation of Maui Ryukyu Clubs (Maui Ryukyu Remmei Kai) was formed to encompass all of the island's Okinawan communities. In the early 1960s, the name was changed to the Maui Okinawa Jin Kei Rengo Club (Maui United Okinawan Association). Upon the return of Okinawa to Japan in 1972, the Maui Okinawa Kenjin Kai (MOKK) as we know it today came to be.

Enjoying the Present

Today, over 550 families - great-grandparents, grandparents, parents, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren - are MOKK members. A building dedicated to the issei, whose struggles and sacrifices made life easier and more comfortable for all of us, is the kaikan that serves as a gathering place for the Okinawan community. Proudly, the Maui Okinawa Cultural Center (Bunka Kaikan) celebrated its 10th anniversary in 2002.

The kaikan houses a museum of artifacts rich in history and heritage. It seems only fitting that the cultural center attract young and old alike to learn odori (dance), sanshin, taiko, karaoke, koto, paranku, iaido (swordsmanship), hogen and gateball. In addition, a children's day camp ignites a fire in our youth to preserve and perpetuate our rich Okinawan culture for future generations.

Uchinanchu and Uchinanchu-at-heart possess a heartfelt spirit energized by a true respect for one another and natural ability to reach out and form lifetime bonds of friendship. This spirit of togetherness was ever-present at the Maui Okinawa Kenjin Kai's Bonen Kai and 75th anniversary celebration luncheon held at the Maui Beach Hotel's elleair Rainbow Room on Nov. 22. The sun shined brightly as over 250 members arrived at the event. Seeing old friends brought lots of hugs and smiles, and soon the room was filled with laughter and elated voices.

MOKK President Todd Hondo welcomed everyone and the Reverend Ryozo Yamaguchi of Paia Rinzai Zen Mission blessed the celebration. Guests in aloha wear and MOKK 75th anniversary shirts navigated their way to their seats and found a special souvenir booklet waiting for exploration. Their souvenir brought many greetings from dignitaries and captured the essence of MOKK. History came to life through stories and pictures, setting the stage for what was yet to come.

Honoring the past MOKK presidents was a true reminder of the dedication and the many steps MOKK has taken to where it is today. But it was truly their day as Maui County Mayor Alan Arakawa officially proclaimed November 22 as "Maui Okinawa Culture Day." HUAO President George Tamashiro and representatives of the Japanese Consulate offered congratulatory messages. The 2002 MOKK Uchinanchu of the Year passed the honor on to the 2003 recipients. And then the lights dimmed and the souvenir booklet came to life on screen. Pictures and music flowed. The narration for each scene was a personal story, a private memory for each, such that no words were necessary as each moment captured and shared, fully embraced one and all.

Educating the Future

As we look ahead, we wonder what will sustain the strength of Okinawan organizations in the next century. Foresight and foundation have provided MOKK with the tools for a positive future. The annual picnic in July brings everyone together for a day of enjoyment and fellowship. The MOKK Senior Citizens Club, formed in 2002, solidifies the deep roots of Uchinanchu bonds. The MOKK scholarship recipients, 79 to date, will be nurtured for future leadership roles. The Fujinkai ladies provide the spirit of volunteerism from the heart in action - magic transformed into reality. The MOKK Golf Tournament attracts golfers from all over Hawaii, the U.S. mainland, Japan and Okinawa, linking Okinawans across the globe. The Maui Okinawan Festival reaches out to the community and shares with our neighbors what the Uchinanchu spirit is all about.

The 2004 MOKK leaders filled the stage and took their oaths during the installation of officers by HUAO President Tamashiro. The 76th year of MOKK was now promised to the next generation of officers. Fittingly, the young 90-year-old Wallace Miyahira brought everyone to their feet with a toast to the future.

The 75th anniversary culminated with joyful entertainment that celebrated this special occasion. The tantalizing sounds of Okinawan music provided by Afuso Ryu Hawaii Sandaa Kai (Sensei Grant "Sandaa" Murata, Sensei Kenton Odo, Tom Yamamoto) was accented in harmony by Sensei Jane Kaneshiro on koto, Sensei Terry Higa on taiko and Richard Yamashiroya on kuucho. Led by Sensei Frances Nakachi, the dancers (Sandra Uyehara, Chikako Shimamura, Jodie Ching) of Tamagusuku Ryu Senju Kai through gesture and expression told the story expressed in each song to an appreciative crowd.

Then audience members stood with their hands in the air moving in rhythm as the traditional kachashi began. The fun-loving Okinawan was alive at this program. As the music ended, hugs were exchanged for promises to see each other again soon.

Forward to the year 2028, the 100th anniversary of MOKK. On this occasion, club officers in a special ceremony will reveal the contents of the MOKK Time Capsule buried on December 11, 2003, filled with photos; a can of the "official" MOKK beer, "Keystone;" messages; plantation toys; club bylaws and a bottle of Kiku No Tsuyu (100 years old in 2028) awamori.

A 100-year-old sotetsu tree, also known as sago palm or king sago, was donated to Maui Okinawa Kenjin Kai by Mrs. Fukuda. On October 11, 2003, Toshio Shiroma, Frank Kawahara, Shigeru Nakanishi, Shigeru Nakamura and Hideo Goya, under the supervision of Michael Hondo, went to the Fukuda's home to dig up the huge plant to bring it to the kaikan. Doris Miyahira was consulted and she suggested planting the sotetsu on the left side of the Kaikan. The sotetsu really looks very good in this location.

Sotetsu is native to Southern Japan, China and Okinawa. They grow slowly, but require very little care. These plants are a reminder to us of Okinawa.
